The majority of the tract is timbered in natural regeneration. The predominant species are hardwoods with pines spread across the property. The largest part of the property is well drained and gently sloped to the seasonal stream that winds along the eastern boundary. Game sign is found everywhere on the property. Entrance to the property is at the end of a county-maintained dirt road. An old home place is the first area you come to as you enter the property. The house is still standing with an old barn and a hand-dug well. A modern well is located on the western boundary of the property along the county road.

Properties this size can be hard to find. This tract is a blank slate, ready for a new owner to take it in any direction desired. Give us a call to see a great rural property.
